FOREWORD

We endeavor to graft and list only the better varieties. However, some of the newer varieties have not been proven in the Northwest, but are grafted and listed by us because of reliable information from southern growers where they have proven excellent.

We have found that grafts on small understocks are very little better than own-root plants of that size. And if one is to go to the trouble to graft a variety, it pays big dividends to use larger understocks. For this reason we have set our standard at a thrifty plant not less than $\frac{1}{2}$ inch in diameter at the ground and larger. Many of our grafts are on $\frac{3}{4}$ inch and larger stocks. By so doing, our plants are making fine, bushy, well-budded plants in three to four years.

Due to a reduced cost of understocks and a high percentage of growing grafts, we are able to make a substantial reduction in the selling price, over last year.

WE GUARANTEE our plants to be true to name, as we know them, well-rooted, free from disease, and well-packed for shipment. What happens to them after they leave our nursery is beyond our control. Therefore our responsibility terminates when the plants leave the nursery.

Conditions of Sale: All orders, cash with order. No C.O.D. orders, please. If possible, we would like you to call at the nursery and make your selection. No extra charge for crating on mail orders. Plants will be sent via Railway Express unless otherwise instructed.

CAMELLIAS

Camellias are not difficult to grow. With a reasonable amount of care they will grow well, making one of the handsomest of all the broad-leaved evergreen blooming plants. They are long-lived and less subject to disease and insect enemies than most other evergreen shrubs. THEY WILL NOT TOLERATE LIME OR DRYNESS AT ANY TIME. Most of our Western Oregon soil is ideal for their growth. With a little additional care, in the way of fertilizing your plants, you will be well rewarded with a better foliage and growth. In addition to being one of the loveliest flowering evergreens, the Camellia has become one of the more popular blossoms for corsages.

Above illustration shows the advantage gained by using a large understock. They are both two-year-old plants from grafting. The large plant, Lady Jane Grey, was grafted on a $\frac{5}{8}$ inch understock early in 1947 and is well-budded. The smaller plant, we purchased in the fall of 1947 as a gallon can size. It is General Dwight Eisenhower and was grafted on understock the size of a pencil.
